DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

A. Species of the embodiment disclosed on page 4, lines 3-27 and page 5, lines 7; in particular the invention that states that the main antenna 5 and sub-antenna 6 are disposed on the rear surface of the MFP 1, thereby to prevent an increase in length of the cable that is connected to the control board 7. Thereby, the length of the cable is reduced to a minimum.

B. Species of the embodiment disclosed on page 6, lines 9-27 and page 7, lines 1-9; in particular the invention that states the condition for installation of the main antenna 5 and sub-antenna 6 in the height direction is optimized. It was confirmed, as a result of measurement, that in the case where the reversing automatic document feeder (RADF) 4 is mounted, if the main antenna 5 and sub-antenna 6 are installed at a position higher than a position that is lower by 1 cm than the uppermost part of the RADF 4, the degradation in performance of the main antenna 5 and sub-antenna 6 is small.

C. Species of the embodiment disclosed on page 7, lines 10-26; in particular the invention that states that the sub-antenna 6 is disposed at such a position as to be able to cover the range associated with the degradation in characteristics, thereby compensating the degraded radiation characteristics.

D. Species of the embodiment disclosed on page 7, lines 10-26; in particular the invention that states in a case where a Bluetooth function is provided along with the above-described wireless LAN function, interference occurs when these communication functions are used at the same time. The fourth embodiment aims to optimize the condition for installation of antennas so as to minimize the interference due to the same-time communications using the Bluetooth function and wireless LAN function.

The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claims are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).
